The electricity requirements for a marquee can vary greatly. For a small amount of power i.e A few lights and small disco, power can be provided via 13amp sockets in the nearest building. For this we can provide RCD protected extension leads that run into the marquee. For large events which require much more power i.e. Catering, we can provide distribution boards that either connect directly into the main fuse box of the building (electrician required) or if the marquee is too far away, connect to a generator.
